

You will find the Sweetheart Soap Coupon in the lower right hand corner of this advertisement. Cut it out. Sign your name and address to it, and present it to your grocer, who is authorized to give you absolutely free for the coupon a full-size cake of Sweetheart Toilet Soap. We will pay him for it—it costs you nothing. Your grocer makes his regular profit on every cake he gives away, and there is no reason why you should not receive the free cake at any grocery store in Kansas.

We publish a list below of a few of the grocers who would be pleased to have you visit their stores and redeem your coupons.

Mrs. E. C. Little of Abilene, the mother of Col. Ed C. Little, has written a book entitled, "Works of Jesus and His Life." The preface explains the purpose of the author. It is as follows:

"The diligent student by careful research and much reading can and does find for himself, distributed through the Scriptures, the contents of this little book and actual works of Jesus. The compiler has hoped to make more easily accessible to an audience larger than that of the diligent students, a compact arrangement, in chronological order as near as may be, of the works of the Galilean who healed the leper, renewed the blind man's sight and restored her only son to the widow of Nain." A brief though comprehensive and useful history of Jesus accompanies the Bible narrative.

The new Winston Churchill book, "Mr. Carew's Career," is proving the best seller in the Topeka stores.

Harold MacGrath has written a new novel just published by the Bobbs-Merrill company. Its alluring title is "The Lure of the Mask," and it is full of alluring pictures by Harrison Fisher and Karl Anderson. The story opens with a jump—literally. A young New Yorker, rich, of course, hears from his window on a night of fog and mist a woman's voice singing divinely. He falls in love with it head over heels, and he falls downstairs in about the same way, he is in such a hurry to see the singer. But by the time he reaches the street, lo! she has vanished, and only a polkacone remains. Later on, this young, adventurous Mr. Hillard again meets the young, adventurous singer under most mystifying circumstances. They dine together, but she comes in mask. What the voice has begun, the masks puts the finishing touches to. From then on Hillard is full forty fathoms deep in love and curiosity. Then the scene shifts to Italy, with the shifting fortunes of an American comic opera company, stranded at Venice. The beautiful singer becomes the prima donna of this company. The subterfuge is one Kitty Killgrew, and around her flourishes a most enticing, exciting and enervating subplot. She dances her way straight into your heart. Amusing things happen at Venice. Thrilling things happen at Monte Carlo. At Florence the climax is reached, and it makes you fairly gasp with its intense interest. At Bellaggio, the loveliest of lovely spots in the land of love, the curtain goes down on happy lovers.

The Century Co. has a number of books scheduled for summer issue: "In June," "Diana of Dobson's," and "The Post Girl," both novels of English life by English writers, in July, "The Well in the Desert," the scenes laid in Arizona, by Adeline Knapp; and, later, Harvey J. O'Higgins' novelization of "The Grand Army Man."

The J. B. Lippincott Company will publish shortly an exceedingly attractive book, "The Perfect Garden," by Walter Page Wright, editor of The Gardener, and a well known English expert on gardening and horticulture. Mr. Wright has written much upon these subjects, and describes in his new book many of the practices and methods in use in England that have made English gardens famous throughout the world. The book is profusely illustrated in black and white, and also has a number of pictures in color that are reported to be as fine as anything of the kind that has so far appeared.

Armistead Churchill Gordon is well known as a novelist, a poet, a thinker, and a man of letters. As the author of "Befo' the War," a book written in collaboration with Thomas Nelson Page, and "The Gift of the Morning Star," which The Hartford Times calls "A novel of life, not a tract in disguise, or any of other queer things which masquerade as novels," and the Toledo Blade says is "intensely interesting," as the author of "Congressional Currency, An Outline of the Federal Money System," which The New York Herald says is "solid, suggestive, and thoughtful," Mr. Gordon has built up an enviable reputation, and numbers his readers by the thousands. "The Ivory Gate" but further proves his remarkable versatility and his command of literary forms. It is published by the Neale Publishing Company of Washington.

William Le Queux, the author of "The Lady and the Car," recently published in America by the J. B. Lippincott Company, has enjoyed a most unusual career. He is perhaps as well known in political circles as he is in literary. An Englishman by birth, he has travelled over most of the civilized world; studied art in Paris; has been consul to the Republic of San Marino, and commander of various Serbian and Italian orders; he has been a journalist and special correspondent, and has acted as sub-editor of The Globe. He is said to have one of the finest collections of medieval manuscripts and codicils in existence. As a writer he needs no introduction.

Jack London has more than once been accused of being unscientific in his most daring work, but the charge does not seem to be borne out by certain facts which are vouched for by his publishers. Take, for instance, "The Iron Heel," which critics have complained of as overdrawn, and which some have even scouted as ridiculous. Yet one of the greatest American sociologists has said that his analysis of the social situation is essentially scientific. "The Road" and "People of the Abyss" have been adopted as text books for classes in sociology. And now comes the news that "Before Adam," his story of primitive man, has been adopted for required reading in Professor A. G. Keller's course in anthropology in Yale university. Professor Keller says frankly that "Before Adam" is "in all essentials correct and scientific in its conception of early man,"—an opinion that should be conclusive in view of his reputation and authority.

Some of the most successful of recent plays have acquired their names by judicious "borrowing." The Great Divide was the title of a short story by Alice Ames Winter that appeared in The Reader Magazine in November, 1905, more than a year before Mr. Moody's play of the same name was heard of. Of course the play had no resemblance to the story. George Broadhurst's political comedy, The Man of the Hour, was antedated many months by Octave Thanet's strong American novel of the same name. Further, the title of that author's latest book, The Lion's Share, proved so excellent commercially, that the publishers sought to have it trade marked, but without success, the government holding that a book title could not be regarded as an exclusive label.

Mr. Robert Herrick's new book, which is to be published this spring, is entitled "Together." In token of the fact that it is largely concerned with the lives of married people. It is said to be a big, generously constructed book, with a great deal of variety as to scenes and characters. Furthermore, it is promised that it holds a surprise for Mr. Herrick's friends in that it will show him as having abandoned his old rather detached method for a much more personal and intimate manner of writing.

REORGANIZE THE CITY LEAGUE.

Midgets Drop Out and J. M. Brun's Team Take the Place.

A slight reorganization is to be made in the city league within the next few days. The Midget team which is one of the best known amateur teams in this part of the state will withdraw in favor of the J. M. Brun team. Manager Harper Rigby of the Midgets has secured a large number of out of town players for the Midgets and it is his purpose to take his team out on the road a few days and the Midgets will be out of town during the greater part of the summer. The Brun team is a strong team and will be able to cope with any of the city league teams and will make the race interesting.

The last appearance of the Midgets in the city league will be made today and Sunday at Skene's park. Today the Midgets meet the Democratic Flaming team and Sunday will oppose the Topeka Printing company team. These games should draw well on account of their farewell appearance and the fact that there will be no professional game on that date.

Pitcher Hogg Is Suspended.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 6.—Pitcher Billie Hogg did not accompany the Yankees on the western trip. He has been indefinitely suspended by Manager Clark Griffith for failing to get into proper condition. Hogg, according to Griffith, has failed to apply himself to hard work and will warm the bench without pay until he is able to deliver the goods.

A Grand Family Medicine. "It gives me pleasure to speak a good word for Electric Bitters," writes Mr. Frank Conlan of No. 48 Houston st., N. Y. "It's a grand family medicine for dyspepsia and liver complications, while for lame back and weak kidneys it cannot be too highly recommended." Electric Bitters regulate the digestive functions, purify the blood and impart renewed vigor and vitality to the weak and debilitated of both sexes. Sold under guarantee at all drug stores. 50 cents.

WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Kansas will send a delegation of over 40 women to the Boston biennial. The delegation will join the Missouri and Oklahoma federations in Kansas City. Among others in the delegation will be: Mrs. A. Johnston, Mrs. J. W. Hughes, Mrs. H. O. Garvey, Miss Annabel Garvey, Miss Lydia Larimer, Miss Lydia Bolmar, Mrs. G. F. Worley, Miss Helen Lindsay, Miss Sampson, Mrs. Adrien M. Greene, Mrs. H. H. Brown, Mrs. O. E. Walker, Mrs. D. H. Forbes, Mrs. D. C. Nellis, Mrs. G. H. Whitcomb, all of Topeka, Mrs. Eustace H. Brown of Olathe, president of the Kansas Federation and the six other state officers, Mrs. R. P. Murdoch of Wichita, Mrs. C. C. Goddard, Mrs. F. H. Lemon and Mrs. Fairchild of Leavenworth, Mrs. May Belleville Brown of Salina, Mrs. Stella Miller of Marysville, Mrs. Randolph Nichols, Mrs. Eugene F. Ware and Mrs. Mackenzie Walker of Kansas City, Mrs. W. D. Atkinson of Parsons, Mrs. C. B. Hoffmann of Enterprise, Mrs. Grace Snyder of Cawker City, Mrs. A. C. Stich of Independence and Mrs. Kate Applington of Council Grove.

Mrs. F. W. Watson, president of the city federation of clubs, who has been in California for a number of weeks where she was called on account of the illness of her father, will pass through Topeka Wednesday on her way to Topeka Bay, Mich., where the family has their summer home. Her children are with her and Mr. Watson will join them in Topeka and accompany them to the city president out of town. Most of the other prominent club women leaving soon for the Boston biennial and the individual clubs winding up their work until fall, there will be little doing in club circles until the Kansas delegation returns from Boston with their reports of the biennial.

The Woman's Kansas Day club has had the following circular published to explain the Pawnee Rock movement and the club's part in it:

The Women's Kansas Day club is a woman's patriotic organization which meets at the state capitol once a year, January 29th. It is interested in collecting and preserving early Kansas history. This year it is working on Pawnee Rock. This property is owned by Benjamin F. Unruh who values it at $2,500. He will deed four acres to the state of Kansas as a gift, if the women of Kansas will place thereon, a monument to cost not less than $1,500; an avenue 100 feet wide leading from the town of Pawnee Rock to the Rock; a woven wire fence 50 inches high surrounding the entire property; a well and windmill. The avenue on either side, and the park of four acres are to be set with shade trees and otherwise beautified; a four foot cement walk is to be laid leading from the town up to the Rock. The face of the Rock which has been mutilated to some extent, is to be restored in mason work as nearly as possible.

The citizens of Pawnee Rock will add an extra $1,000 improvement and have the money deposited in the bank at the present time. This will make the property when completed worth $7,500. The Women's Kansas Day club want to complete the work and present the property to the state of Kansas when the legislature convenes next year. Every woman connected with this work is donating her time and labor and all expenses of every nature.

The work is thoroughly organized and has been legalized by the state legislature.

The money to do this work will have to be raised by popular subscription and by securing members to the Women's Kansas Day club. Membership dues are 25c per year.

Will you not contribute to this work as generously as you may feel able to do?

Boston biennial notes: Mrs. Julia B. Perry of Beloit, superintendent of the Kansas State Industrial School for girls, will be one of three speakers on the civil service reform programme at the biennial. Mrs. Perry's subject will be the Workings of Civil Service Reform in Institutions.

Dr. James H. Canfield, formerly chancellor of the University of Kansas, now of Columbia university, New York, will be the principal speaker on the library programme. Mrs. W. Johnston of Topeka is a member of the library committee of the general federation.

The Woman's Kansas Day club has Pawnee Rock souvenir post cards for sale.

The Club Member's circulation shows encouraging signs monthly. Thirtysix new subscribers were added in one day recently.

From a Wakeney correspondent: There is a society of women in Wakeney who have banded themselves together and are called the "Ladies Good Will club." It is an organization of about fifty members, which include ladies of the town and vicinity regardless of wealth, position, church or political party. It is about eight years old, and every November political election they choose officers. The present officers are: Mrs. Addie Lucas, president; Mrs. Lena Neely, vice president; Mrs. Barbara Peacock, secretary; Mrs. Antonette Keras, treasurer. Among the many good things the "Ladies Good Will" society have accomplished is the purchase of a piano for the Treco county court room. They have also paid for and erected an iron fence enclosing the cemetery, and they take good care of it. They will also do sewing in families and business houses. They meet twice a month at the house of some of their members, and are at all times of work and keeping up the civic pride of Wakeney. They gave a dinner Decoration day which netted them about $65. They have a nice treasury, and their money is spent for the pride of the town. Said one of their members: "We also take care of the graves for families who do not now live here but have friends and relatives buried in the cemetery."

Certainly the aim of the Wakeney "Ladies Good Will" society what they have accomplished in the past and the work before them in the future is a most laudable one.

The Topeka chapter of the D. A. R. will celebrate Flag Day next Saturday at the home of Mrs. A. T. Daniels. Flag Day, June 14, falls this year on Sunday. The Lawrence chapter has been asked to spend the day with the Topeka chapter.

At a meeting of the Woman's Kansas Day club held this afternoon at the Y. W. C. a protest was read from the Current Literature club against restoring Pawnee Rock with masonry. Another interesting subject discussed was the W. K. D. C. program at the Chautauque in July.

The Vignette club held its last study meeting of the club year just closed with Mrs. Homer Hoch at the Governor's House Tuesday. Next Tuesday the club will meet with Mrs. John T. Chaney to elect officers and discuss a program for this year.

The Golden Rule club had its last meeting of the season Friday with Mrs. H. F. Clay. The new officers are Mrs. Ed. Gordon, president; Mrs. I. S. Lewis, vice president; Mrs. F. M. Drake, secretary; Mrs. F. L. Huey, treasurer; Mrs. Clay and Mrs. Gordon, delegates to the city federation. The club will have its annual field day with Mrs. A. J. Carruth in Overbrook, June 19.

The Minerva club was entertained Monday at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stone at a rose luncheon served at 1 o'clock and followed by a musicale. The programme, dedicated to patriotism and June follows.
